TRAVEL + LEISURE

A Forbes Magazine 'Luxury Walking Favorite'

Drinking in the sunset and the Chianti at our friend Marco's farmhouse, we decided that a Tuscany walking tour couldn't be improved upon. Since he's a staunch Tuscan, he surprised us by saying, "Then you've never been to the Cinque Terre." So we went to these five once almost unreachable villages that grow out of rock along the Ligurian Sea. For centuries, a connecting footpath was their lifeline, but for us it's the scenic route into a remote and vibrant coastal culture. Beforehand, we spend three nights in the parts of Tuscany we love best...complete with hilltowns that rise out of silver-green olive groves, homemade prosciutto and potato ravioli and the sunny vineyards of Chianti. Throughout, we'll explore the art history, and savor the food and wine. Will you prefer walking in Tuscany or the Cinque Terre? The good news is that this trip gives you both, so you don't have to decide.

DAY 1 »

Florence / Chianti

- Meet the winemaker in his vineyard, learning about his family's passion
- Explore a 16th-century villa estate with its aristocratic owners

Immerse yourself in the pace and palate of Tuscan living as you venture into the Chianti countryside. At one of Chianti's renowned wineries, the winemaker himself greets you in the vineyard. As you stroll through the sun-drenched rows of grapes, he shares his family's passion and love for the land, explaining how this deep connection translates into their exceptional winemaking process. Enjoy a private tour of the cellars and taste their acclaimed wines, raising a glass in a traditional 'salute' with your local Italian guide.

After the tasting, continue your curated walk through picturesque vineyards and silvery olive groves. The villa on the hillside ahead is not just a stunning photo op; it's also your hotel, constructed as a palatial family home in the 16th century. You'll have time to explore the manicured estate with your hosts—a count and countess, and very close friend of ours—before savoring dinner on the terrace, surrounded by breathtaking Tuscan vistas.

San Gimignano

- Savor breakfast overlooking Tuscan vineyards and villages
- Explore San Gimignano at sunset with an expert guide, avoiding daytime crowds

Begin your day with a beautiful Tuscan breakfast on the terrace, overlooking rolling vineyards, silvery olive groves, and picturesque nearby villages. After this idyllic start, venture into the countryside on a trail leading through the legendary landscape to a 15th-century castle. Here, you'll meet a local friend who welcomes you into their home for a traditional lunch, complete with wine pressed from their own grapes.

As the afternoon sun begins to soften, you'll embark on an expertly guided visit to San Gimignano. While most tourists crowd the town during midday, you'll experience this medieval gem at its most enchanting hour - sunset. The warm light bathes the 14 medieval towers in a golden glow, creating a truly cinematic scene. Your local expert will reveal the town's rich history, from the Guelph-Ghibelline conflict to the significance of its once 70 towers, all while you enjoy the tranquility of the less crowded streets.

As twilight descends, you'll meet a world-renowned artisanal gelato maker. Known for his innovative flavors, including his signature saffron gelato, Sergio welcomes you personally. He'll share the secrets behind his acclaimed creations before joining you in a tasting of his exquisite gelatos. The evening concludes with a memorable dinner at an acclaimed trattoria, where you'll dine under a barrel-vaulted brick ceiling savoring Tuscan specialties.

DAY 3 »

Chianti / Monteriggioni

- Walk along the historic Via Francigena, tracing ancient pilgrim routes to Rome
- Taste traditional cheeses with shepherdess Sarah at her welcoming farm

Following a breakfast of local specialties, you'll begin the day with a private visit to an 11th-century Benedictine abbey, an important medieval center for learning. Then get ready for some unsurpassed scenery as your guide leads you along a scenic footpath that offers magnificent views of stands of cypress, poppy fields, and olive groves. This path also crosses the Via Francigena, the ancient pilgrim's route that stretches from Canterbury, England, to Rome. Like the famed routes to Santiago de Compostela, this historic trail is steeped in tradition and spirituality.

As you walk, a real vision appears: Monteriggioni, Tuscany's most spectacular fortified village, oval-shaped with 14 towers placed evenly along its sheer walls. After savoring a leisurely lunch in this charming village described by Dante in his Inferno, you'll be welcomed to the farm of our friend Sarah, a dedicated shepherdess. She'll share her family's passion for caring for their sheep and goats, explaining how they produce their delicious cheeses. Sit down with Sarah as she shares a tasting of her traditional specialties, experiencing firsthand the flavors of Tuscany. Later in the afternoon, return to your villa-hotel to relax by the pool before dinner.

Lucca / Santa Margherita

- Discover marble artistry firsthand with a master sculptor in Pietrasanta
- Experience techniques used by Michelangelo before visiting his iconic David

Heading north and west through Chianti and the Arno Valley, you'll arrive in Lucca for a guided visit, shopping time, and lunch. It was here in 56 BC that Caesar, Pompey, and Crassus agreed to rule Rome as a triumvirate. The town boasts wonderful 16th-century Renaissance walls, a spectacular white marble duomo, a Roman amphitheater, and elegant shops situated on cobblestone streets. Join your local guide on a fascinating walk along a stretch of the Renaissance walls and through the historical center, then take some time on your own to explore some of the fine shops.

After lunch, you'll visit Pietrasanta, renowned for its marble artisans. Here, you'll meet a master sculptor who welcomes you into his studio. He'll demonstrate how he carves marble using techniques reminiscent of Michelangelo himself, making the artistry come alive in a way that simply viewing a statue cannot. This hands-on experience elevates your understanding of sculpture and foreshadows your upcoming visit to see Michelangelo's David later in the week. Continue your scenic drive along the Apuane Mountains, past quarries that provided the marble for many of Michelangelo's masterpieces, before arriving at your hotel perfectly situated in the heart of the Italian Riviera.
